PRAEFATIO

Babylonia, i. e. campi illi, quos Euphrates et Tigris cursu suo inferiore circumfluunt, antiquitus dividebantur in partes duas, Sumer scil. et Akkad, quae nomina probabiliter correspondent biblicis Sennaar et Achad (שִׁנְעָר Σενααρ; אַכַּד, Ἀρχάδ). Akkad (=A-ga-dé^{ki}) erat pars septentrionalis Babyloniae et maxima ex parte a Semitis habitabatur; Sumer antem, pars meridionalis, a populo quodam non semitico incolebatur, quem a terrae nomine Sumerium vocamus. Sumer et Akkad eo tempore, quo eorum historia pro nobis incipit, in multa parva regna divisae erant, quae saepissime inter se de principatu contendebant, eaque pugna, dum reges dynastiae I Babylone imperabant, i. e. fere saeculo XXII a. Chr., in favorem Semitarum decisa est; nec unquam ab illo tempore Sumerii libertatem suam recuperaverunt, sed paulatim cum Babyloniis in unum populum coaluerunt.

Potentia igitur et vi armorum Akkadii Sumerios superabant, non tamen humanitate, institutis atque legibus, potissimum quae religionem spectant. Tempore enim iam praehistorico Akkadii a Sumeriis artem scribendi didicerant et simul cum illa totum eorum cultum humanum civilemque, praecipue vero eorum traditiones et doctrinas religiosas acceperant. Quamvis igitur Sumeriorum lingua decursu temporis mortua sit, semper tamen manebat lingua sacra sacerdotum apud Babylonios eiusque studium erat ardui laboris in scholis scribarum, dum literae cuneiformes florebant, i. e. fere usque ad tempus Christi Domini.

Benigno quodam divinae Providentiae consilio factum est, ut innumerabilia fere monumenta et scripta Sumeriorum iam inde ab antiquissimis temporibus simul cum eorum commentariis, quos scribae Babylonii subsecutis aetatibus addidissent, ad nos pervenirent; antiquiora illa ab Europaeis et indigenis in stratis infimis ruderum virginali solo deserti superpositis, haec in superioribus reperta sunt et in dies plura inveniuntur. Sine interpretatione, a Babyloniorum scribis facta, Sumeriorum lingua nobis liber septem sigillis conclusus maneret, sicut scripta populorum incolentium montes, qui planitiem magnam Asiae anterioris a populis Semiticis habitatam circumdant, i. e. Elamitarum, Medorum, antiquorum habitatorum Armeniae et Chetitarum. Nunc autem, Deo bene iuvante, studium linguae Sumericae suscipere possumus et maxima utilitate suscipimus. Non enim solius philologiae cuneiformis causa docti huic labori incumbunt – quae utilitas iam magna est, nam qui linguam Sumericam non didicerit, nunquam Assyriorum et Babyloniorum literas vere interpretabitur – sed potissimum, ut ex his antiquissimis monumentis de antiquissimorum populorum historia et traditionibus religiosis verum sibi efforment iudicium. Ut autem pateat, quanti momenti haec Sumeriologiae pars pro Scripturae Sacrae studio sit, dicere sufficit terram Sumer fuisse patriam Abrahami; « Ur enim Chaldaeorum » una ex civitatibus Sumeriorum erat, quae saepe in illis monumentis tempore Abrahami et ante Abrahamum scriptis nominatur. Praeterea Babylonii traditiones suas religiosas, quae tot et tantas habent relationes cum Sacra Scriptura et de quibus hodie tam acriter disputatur, saltem maxima ex parte ab antiquis Sumeriis acceperunt. Hinc certissime textus Sumerii attentionem diligensque studium Exegetarum catholicorum merentur, maius quam usque huc invenerunt.

Adiumenta autem in addiscenda lingua Sumerica, sicut ex supra dictis patet, duplicis sunt rationis. Primum sine ullo dubio locum tenent scribarum Babyloniorum commentarii, qui iterum duplicis sunt generis. Plurimae illorum interpretationes textuum Sumeriorum in tabulis continentur per modum brevis cuiusdam vocabularii conscriptis, quas Assyriologi « Syllabaria » vocant. Praeterea textus bilingues ad nos pervenerunt, textus scil. Sumerici, quibus translatio Assyria addita est. Primus qui vocabula Sumerica in syllabariis illis et textibus bilinguibus ab ipsis Babyloniis explicata collegit et secundum Alphabetum distribuit, fuit Iohannes Nepomucenus Strassmaier S. I. in libro, cui titulus: « ALPHABETISCHES VERZEICHNISS der Assyrischen und Akkadischen Wörter, Leipzig, 1886 », quod opus, propter multas quoque alias rationes semper valorem suum scientificum retinebit. In hoc potissimum vocabulario liber Rudolphi E. Brünnow fundatur, qui inscribitur: « A CLASSIFIED LIST of all simple and compound cuneiform ideographs, Leyden 1889 ». In his tabulis verba Sumerica non secundum nostrum Alphabetum, sed secundum signa cuneiformia Neo-Assyria ordinata sunt. Hanc collectionem doctoris Brünnow magna ex parte auxit et complevit Bruno Meissner in libro suo recentissime publicato: « SELTENE ASSYRISCHE IDEOGRAMME, Leipzig, 1910 ». Praeter hos commentarios Babyloniorum ultimis his viginti annis plurimi textus Sumerici in sola lingua Sumerica conscripti, editi sunt, qui secundum ea quae continent, dividi possunt in textus historicos et textus, qui administrationem templorum potissimum et palatiorum principum spectant. Illos collectos invenies in libro optimo Fr. Thureau-Dangin: « die SUMERISCHEN und AKKADISCHEN KÖNICHSINSCHRIFTEN, Leipzig, 1907 », in quo celeberrimus hic Sumeriologus tentaminibus translationis ab antecessoribus suis factis, ut patet, nixus, completam, in quantum fieri potuit, dedit horum textuum transscriptionem et interpretationem. Inter labores lexicographicos textus administrationis respicientes potissimum nominandum est vocabularium, quod G. Reisner praemisit suis: « TEMPELURKUNDEN aus TELLOH, Berlin, 1901 ». Nomina propria omnium textuum archaicorum Sumeriorum collegit Engelbertus Huber, O. F. M. in libro: « Die PERSONENNAMEN in den Keilschrifturkunden aus der Zeit der Könige von Ur und Nisin, Leipzig, 1907 », cui variae tabulae utilissimae additae sunt, inter quas hic potissimum octava, quae praenotatur: « Liste der praedicativen Elemente », commemoranda est.

Nostrum VOCABULARIUM SUMERICUM ordine alphabetico continebit: 1° omnes aequationes Sumero-Babylonias a Brünnow et Meissner citatas, in quibus pronuntiatio Sumerica nota est; 2° vocabularium completum textuum historicorum a Fr. Thureau-Dangin editorum; 3° quaedam ideogrammata ex textibus administrationis collecta. Singulis vocabulis Sumericis signum cuneiforme Neo-Assyrium et unum ex archaicis addita sunt.

Auctor opus hoc, qualecunque sit, discipulis in explicandis textibus Sumericis, potissimum historicis utile fore sperat et confidit.

Restat ut gratias agam maximas Mr. Ibbett, qui laborem molestum autographiae invicto semper studio et industria perfecit.

Romae, die festo Omnium Sanctorum, 1910.

Tabulae dividuntur in duas vel plures partes majores secundum greges variorum templorum; hae partes a sangu vel a patesi vel ab anše, repraesentante regis, subscribuntur. Hae partes majores in minores subdividuntur, quibus singulis PaNN: nu-banda-gud nomen suum notat; ultimus autem horum officialium praecedentes partes complectitur, quod a magistratu altiore confirmatur. Partes minores duas vel tres subdivisiones continent, quarum prior de armentis agit, altera de asinis; singulae autem ab „engar" subscribuntur. Ordo igitur officialium hic est: Duo engar quorum alter est pastor boum, alter asinorum subsunt Pa .. nu-banda-gud; plures nu-banda-gud subsunt sangu (sacerdos), patesi, vel anše, repraesentanti regis. In recensendis gregibus animalia secundum haec capita enumerantur: gub-ba, zig-ga, rig-rig-ga, labat, lal-ni. Intra haec capita animalia secundum aetatem et genus hoc ordine enumerantur:

I ARMENTA (gud).

lid·al = vacca 4-12(?) annorum gud·giš = bos admissarius 4-10 an.
lid 3 = vacca 3 an.
gud 3 = bos 3 an.
lid 2 giš-šú = vacca 2 an. feturae habilis gud 2 giš-šú = bos 2 an. „ „

gud 2 = juvencus 2 an.
lid 1 = juvenca 1 an.
gud 1 = juvencus 1 an.
lid amar-ga = vitula
gud amar-ga = vitulus

lid·gud·giš — armenta feturae habilia vaccae et boves feturae habiles amar-gud-ḫi·a — armenta feturae nondum habilia gud-šu-gi — armenta vetula lid šu-gi = vacca vetula feturae non habilis gud šu-gi = bos vetulus

II ASINI (anše)

anše·giš — asini feturae habiles anše (raro anše-sal-al: TUn 49; CT VII 28a) = asina 4-10 an.

anše-nita = asinus admissarius 4-10 an.
anše-(sal-mu) 3 = asina 3 an.
anše-nita-(mu) = asinus 3 an.
anše 2 giš-šú = asina 2 an.
anše-nita-2 giš-šu = asinus 2 an.

amat-anše·ḫi·a — asini feturae nondum habiles anše (sal) 2 = asinae pullus fem. 2 an.

anše-nita (mu) 2 = asinae pullus masc. 2 an.
anše-(sal) 1 = asinae pullus fem. 1 an.
anše-nita 1 = asinae pullus masc. 1 an.
anše (-sal)-amat-ga = asinae pullus fem anše-nita-amat-ga = asinae pullus masc.

anše·šu·gi — asini vetuli anše-nita-šu-gi giš-šu (solum: CT V 29 II) = asinus vetulus admissarius anše-šu-gi = asina vetula anše-nita-šu-gi = asinus vetulus anše-nita-1 šu-gi (CT V 23f VIII, X, XI) = asinus vet. 1 an.

anše-nita 2 šu-gi (TU n 26 XII 28) = asinus vet. 2 an.

Secundum hanc synopsin greges armentorum et asinorum in tres clain tres classes dividebantur quarum prima erat feturae habilis, i.e. a 2½ an. usque ad 10-12 an (giš = cauda bovis, Rute), secunda feturae nondum erat habilis i.e. a partu usque ad 2½ an; tertia continebat animalia vetula, quasi nomen a certo quodam anno eis datum, sicut patet ex phrasi: asinus vetulus unius anni, vel duorum annorum. Animalia vetula saepe sub „zig-ga" (= dispensare) enumerantur. Unaquaeque pars major habet suum „šu-nigin" (= summa); in fine inscriptionis hae summae bis comprehenduntur in modo magis particulari et generali. Objectum principale harum tabularum sunt „gud (anše)-engar," (jumenta?) in fine omnis summationis commemorata, quorum numerus ex ante-cedentibus nondum determinari potest. Aliae quoque phrases v.gr rug-ga, rug-rug-ga etc in his tabulis occurrunt, quarum sensus nondum patet; cf TU pg 3.
